Hospital Administrator Tells Rules for Blood Program

The drastic change which has occurred in the Red Cross blood program was particularly evident recently at bloodmobile visits—when scores of persons who have not made appointments were often turned away.

This change from days when some bush-beating was necessary to secure enough donors, to now when bloodmobiles are booked to capacity has come about because of the requirement that, except in hardship cases, all blood used must be replaced in order to guarantee a constant supply.

Because considerable misunderstanding of the Red Cross blood program continues to exist, hospitals, such as the Torrance Memorial Hospital, do their part to interpret it by issuing explanatory letters to their patients.

Leonard A. Ensminger, Torrance hospital administrator, says the letter outlines three ways the Red Cross assists one to receive blood without charge. They are:

(1) If you are employed by a firm, or are a member of a church or organization which maintains a Red Cross blood account, you may draw upon it for yourself or members of your immediate family upon authorization of the person in charge of the account.

(2) If you have contributed blood to a bloodmobile, or Red Cross blood center as an individual you may draw upon that by getting in touch with Red Cross headquarters which will inform the hospital of your blood credit.

(3) If you have already received blood and have been charged the commercial blood bank rate of about $25 per pint, your money will be refunded if the blood is replaced through the Red Cross within a specified period, usually 90 days. If the blood is not replaced the hospital will use the fee to purchase replacement from a commercial source.

The Red Cross receives no money for blood or for any other service, according to Ensminger. It depends upon the annual fund campaign to finance the cost of scientifically drawing, processing and storing the blood. This cost is approximately $5.78 per pint.

Torrance residents will have an opportunity to donate, or "deposit" blood for future use or as a replacement when the Red Cross community bloodmobile is stationed at the Civic Auditorium, 1439 El Prado, June 25 from 3 to 7:30 p.m.

Appointments should be made by contacting the chairman, Mrs. Pat Orsini, at FA 8-0647.

Leonard's Plans Crazy Western Roundup Sale

Leonard's International Department Store, 600 N. Sepulveda Blvd., El Segundo, has "gone and done it again," according to Bob Leonard, owner of the big Discount Store. Leonard says he is referring to the Wild West Roundup Sale starting today and continuing tomorrow, Saturday, and Sunday.

It's an "all out" effort to outdo the "Crazy Daze" sale promotion that so many of the people in this area attended three months ago, he added, and Leonard's have "rounded up" stage coaches, cowboys, free pony rides, prizes, favors, and many, many other exciting attractions for young and old "bent on driving hard bargains."

"All departments have actually reduced prices to cost and even below cost for this big event," Leonard said. "There will be 'wild and woolley' bargains like ladies' $2.95 shoes on sale for 25 cents, 45 R.P.M. phonograph records on sale for 2 cents each, $3.95 throw pillows for 88 cents, etc." he explained, "and every wholesaler we do business with has cooperated with us for this event so that we can pass these big savings and 'carload discounts' on to our customers."
